

FAASTeam presents:

Destination: Disneyland (Orange County, CA)

If you have kids, or ever were a kid, you know that Disneyland is the Happiest Place on Earth. Here's your chance to get there by the Coolest Transportation Method on Earth - your own airplane. Flying GA makes a day trip to Disneyland completely attainable, even for Bay Area pilots. If you have considered flying yourself to Orange County, you may have felt a bit intimidated when you first looked at the Los Angeles Sectional and TAC charts. At least SF Class B is in nice ring shapes, LA's Class B looks like jagged panes of broken glass. What is the best way to navigate through this airspace? How can you take your family to Mickey, without getting your certificate revoked. SCFC Aerial Tour Pilot Kyle Harmon presents an interactive and engaging presentation about flying to the LA area, with specific focus on a Disneyland day or weekend trip. He will cover route planning, including an analysis of the maze of airways, overlapping airspace, terrain considerations, and suggested VFR flyways that make up the Los Angeles terminal area. He will discuss various arrival and departure routes, and operations at the closest airports to Disneyland – John Wayne (SNA), Fullerton (FUL), and Long Beach (LGB.) He also discuss LA-specific hazards - the large volume of low altitude helicopter operations, and the permanent TFR over the Disneyland Resort. This type of ground briefing is a must for anyone planning to make a trip into the Los Angeles area. If you've never seen the Matterhorn Bobsleds from 2,000 feet directly overhead, you haven't seen the Matterhorn Bobsleds. (On occasion, ATC vectors you through the TFR.) Join us to learn about safely flying to another great destination, and unlock your next great adventure. San Carlos Flight Center was voted Best Flight School in the US in the 2013 AOPA Flight Training Excellence Awards. We are committed to promoting safety in general aviation through our evening safety seminar programs.
